Jaipur is special in that it is practically the only city in India that exemplifies a practical living model of the ancient Indian architectural doctrine of Vastu-vidya. Discover one of the least explored facets of the Pink city!

This walk explores the scientific and methodical approach underlying the founding of the city, guided equally by ancient Indian architectural / city building Vastu principles, as well as late mediaeval / pre-modern contexts when the city was founded.

Guided by Himanshu Verma (Director, Red Earth & Arts Curator).

Jaipur is often regarded as the “Hidden Vrindavan” because of the benign presence of four important Krishna deities, who travelled to Jaipur from Vrindavan (in the Braj region) in the 17th century. The walk features a visit to Govind Dev Temple: the most prominent temple of Jaipur, located within the royal precinct; and the other light maps of Caitanya tradition: Radha-Damodar, Shri Radha-Gopinath, and Shri Vinodilal – located in varying neighbourhoods within the walled city.

Guests will be able to compare various modes of architectural conventions followed by temples, and study their decorative elements, as well as get a sense of their religious abandon and joie-de-vivre. Guided by Himanshu Verma

We return to one of our favourite walking themes: the city at Night, with this special walk that explores the night-life of Chaura Rasta, one of the main streets of Jaipur.

Aimlessly wandering through this beautifully lit up avenue, we revel in architectural delights, sip on street-side Chai, get lost in secret interior alleys, visit temples, and soak in the glowing pink beauty of the city, which takes on a radically different flavour as the day ends, and the night ascends...
